

Important First Steps

What should I do next?

1. Get in touch with local support groups or contact the Brain Injury Association of Texas for a list of support groups.

Support groups can be an invaluable resource for information on a wide variety of topics, including treatment facilities and specific programs that may be available in your area. Contact the Brain Injury Association of Texas at (800) 392-0040 or www.biatx.org.

2. Keep a daily journal of patient's mental and physical changes.

Keep a list of questions for the doctor or others on the treatment team. Keep track of treatments, medications and results.

3. Establish a support system of family and friends.

Organize family and friends to visit the patient, support the family, and help with tasks needed to prepare for the future.

4. Contact the case manager at your hospital.

Identify the case manager who will be working with the patient. Discuss with the case manager the patient's progress and potential needs upon discharge. Get help in identifying supports and services that may be available after discharge.

5. Apply for SSI / Medicaid immediately.

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) is a program of the Social Security Administration that provides monthly payments to people who are, among other qualifiers, disabled and have limited income and/or resources. Parents need not be eligible themselves in order for a disabled child to receive SSI. If eligible for SSI, the patient usually can get Medicaid, health insurance which is tied into the SSI benefits package. Discuss this with your case manager and call (800) 772-1213, visit www.ssa.gov, or contact your local Social Security office for more information.

6. Apply for SSDI / Medicare immediately. Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) provides monthly payments for workers and eligible members of their family if an illness or injury is expected to keep the worker from working for a year or longer. Medicare is a health insurance program tied into SSDI. A new beneficiary must wait 24 months after SSDI benefits begin to receive Medicare coverage, in addition to the 5-month waiting period after the disability onset. Enrollment in the Medicare program is automatic for SSDI recipients - no application process is necessary. No monthly premium is charged for hospital insurance to persons receiving SSDI benefits. Discuss this with your case manager and call (800) 772-1213, visit www.ssa.gov/disability, or contact your local Social Security office for more information.

7. Talk with your hospital case manager about services for which the patient may be eligible.

Apply immediately - some programs allow immediate access while others may have a waiting list. Contact each agency directly for information on any additional programs that may be available.

• TexCare Partnership: if the patient is under the age of 19. Program provides health insurance to eligible children through Medicaid or the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). You may apply by calling (800) 647-6558 or by visiting www.texcarepartnership.com to download an application.

• Comprehensive Rehabilitation Services (CRS): This program provides payment for inpatient comprehensive medical rehabilitation; outpatient services such as occupational, physical, speech and cognitive therapies; and post-acute TBI services to help with injury-related cognitive difficulties. Eligibility is determined by the Texas Rehabilitation Commission (TRC). Contact TRC at (800) 628-5115 or visit www.rehab.state.tx.us.

• Vocational Rehabilitation (VR): This program provides a variety of services designed to help prepare for, find, and keep employment. Eligibility is determined by the Texas Rehabilitation Commission (TRC). Contact TRC at (800) 628-5115 or visit www.rehab.state.tx.us.

• Primary Home Care (PHC): This program provides home care services, which can include attendant care and homemaking services. It is available to eligible clients whose health problems cause them to be functionally limited in performing activities of daily living. Eligibility is determined by the Texas Department of Human Services (DHS). Contact DHS at (888) 834-7406 or visit www.dhs.state.tx.us/programs/elderly/primary\_home.html

• Early Childhood Intervention (ECI): if the patient is under the age of three. A diagnosis is not necessary for a referral. This program helps families help their children reach their potential through developmental services. Services are available throughout Texas. Eligibility is determined by ECI. Contact ECI at (800) 250-2246 or visit www.eci.state.tx.us.

• Medically Dependent Children Program (MDCP): if the patient is under age 21. Eligibility is based on the child's income, not the family's. This program can provide support services such as respite, home modifications and adaptive aids. Contact the Texas Department of Human Services (DHS) at (877) 438-5658 or visit www.dhs.state.tx.us/programs/communitycare/mdcp/.

• Community Living Assistance and Support Services (CLASS) Program: any age if qualifying condition or disability occurs before the age of 22. This program provides home- and community-based services such as respite care, nursing services, habilitation, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, psychological services, specialized therapies, adaptive aids/supplies, home modifications, and independent case management. For more information contact the Texas Department of Human Services (DHS) at (877) 438-5658 or visit www.dhs.state.tx.us/programs/elderly/class.html.

• Community Based Alternative (CBA) Program: if the patient is age 21 or over. This program provides an array of home- and community-based services to aged and disabled adults as cost-effective alternatives to nursing facility care. Services include personal assistance, adaptive aids, medical supplies, adult foster care, assisted living/residential care, nursing, home-delivered meals, rehabilitative therapies, respite care, emergency response, and minor home modifications. Eligibility for this program is determined by the Texas Department of Human Services (DHS). Contact your local DHS office or (888) 834-7406. Visit www.dhs.state.tx.us/programs/elderly/cba.html.

• Children with Special Health Care Needs (CSHCN): if the patient is under the age of 21 (or any age with cystic fibrosis). A range of programs is available to help arrange for medical care and pay medical bills. Apply through the Texas Department of Health (TDH). Contact your regional TDH office at (800) 252-8023 or visit www.tdh.state.tx.us/cshcn.

• Crime Victims Compensation: if the patient is the innocent victim of a crime. Claims may be made for benefits up to a total of $50,000 for a variety of expenses. This program is the payor of last resort, and eligibility is determined by the Office of the Attorney General (OAG). Contact the OAG at (800) 983-9933 or visit www.oag.state.tx.us/victims/cvc.htm.

8. Contact the patient's school immediately.

If the patient is in school, contact the school principal to arrange for the student's return to school or for services while not in school. If the student is in college or technical school, contact the school's Disability Office.

9. Explore guardianship. If the patient is nearing or over the age of 16, and if there are potential problems with the patient's ability to consent to treatment, consider consulting an attorney about types of guardianship to help in securing necessary treatment for the patient without delay.
